Summary of this Exhibition

Japanese agriculture is facing drastic changes in its structure, being exposed to even further global competition through predicted Trans-Pacific Partnership in the near future. For Japanese farmers and trading company (food, farm machine, material, agrichemical) to survive in such circumstance, new equipment and technology for further mass production, for increasing yield ratio in processing and distribution, and for streamlining of supply chains are in focal demands.

Agro-Innovation Tokyo is a professional exhibition for agricultural business which has been held every year since 2008. The show aims to innovate the developing farming business in Japan through seminars and showcasing of latest technologies in both production and distribution sectors that are gathered from the world.
