House of Vintage Cognacs «Tavria» is one of the oldest cognac houses in Eastern Europe. The history of «Tavria» cognac started with the first Swiss colonizers' settlement at the same place where nowadays the House of Vintage Cognacs is situated. Osnova village that was founded in 1889 marked the beginning of the glorious history of this trade mark. The owners of the estate were the hereditary winemakers and viticulturists Louis Gehler, Julius Mayer, and Jan Jatone. Since 1820s they were regularly invited to Russia by the order of Emperor Alexander I to develop winemaking in the Russian Empire and later on the sands of the lower part of the Dnieper river banks. Thanks to them carefully preserved ancient traditions of French winemakers were brought to these lands. The enterprise holds to traditional production technology with brandy distillation in a Charante type column still. The cognac range is represented from VS group to collection cognacs aged for more than 25 years. The House of Vintage Cognacs «Tavria» has 1,300 ha of own vineyards with drip irrigation system installed across the territory. There are 6,500 oak barrels at the aging park.

JATONE VSOP :

Color: From light golden to light brown with a golden hue aroma. Complex bouquet with pronounced notes of oak in the background flavors of dried cherries taste soft, full-bodied, with notes of roasted nuts aftertaste. Long with a hint of vanilla

JATONE WHITE:

Absolutely innovative drink: it is not Grappa, it is not chacha, it is not vodka. The drink is made from brandy spirits. According to classical brandy technology, followed by aging cognac spirits in oak barrels. And this is the most interesting part! Jatone White has its white color due to aging in oak barrels from white oak «AleXX» Gold has a charming amber color, delicate aroma of exotic fruits and mild slightly tart taste. The blend comprises of French and best Tavrian spirits (5-25 years old).

«Cave De Askaniac» is made of young aged grape spirits and has light grape aroma, clean and harmonious palate. Bottles of 0.25 and 0.5L are available, vol. 40%.

Ukrainian food has become an integral part in ensuring global food security. Such integration into the global market became possible due to receiving leadership positions in the world markets of grain and oil. During the last decade Ukraine continues to increase exports of finished food in several different positions. Among them fruits and vegetables, alcoholic and soft drinks, confectionery, meat and dairy products are particularly popular. Ukraine confidently holds primacy in the global market of honey, nuts and flour.

But Ukraine is rich not only in these positions. Unfortunately, not all potential buyers are aware of the agricultural sector possibilities. Ukrainian potential in ensuring global population with quality food is one of the largest in the world. In order to show and tell about the unknown possibilities of food products export the first edition of Ukrainian Food catalogue has been created. It will be one of the first stages of the launching of the international promotional campaign to create a positive image of Ukrainian food.

“Ukrainian food 2015” catalogue is the image project of Ukraine in the world, the first English-language collection of information about Ukrainian exporters of food that will be distributed to potential importers through state and private contact channels.

The purpose of the publication and distribution of the catalogue is to inform potential importers about types of Ukrainian food.

We hope that this catalogue will help you find a reliable contractor among Ukrainian enterprises.
