

Welcome to INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIA ON HORTICULTURE

Emerging Challenges and Opportunities in Horticulture Supporting Sustainable Development Goals

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

It is an honor and great pleasure to invite you to participate in the International Symposia on Horticulture which will be held in Kuta, Bali, Indonesia on 27-30 November 2018. As widely known, Indonesia's size, tropical climate, and archipelagic geography, support the world's third highest level of biodiversity which can be utilized for people prosperity.

The Theme of International Symposia on Horticulture is Emerging Challenges and Opportunities in Horticulture Supporting Sustainable Development Goals which will provide a discussion forum for policy makers, scientists, practitioners, extension agents, students and other professionals to address the challenges of horticulture innovation. You are invited for oral presentation and poster exhibition. Along with the Symposia we also conduct agroedu-tourism.

The hosting city, Kuta is the most famous place in Bali and the main gateway to the island. The city is also a hub for other cities in the Lesser Sunda Islands. Greater Denpasar spills out into the tourist regions, including Kuta and Ubud. Denpasar has various attractions. The white sandy beaches are well-known all over the island. The surfing beach is Serangan Island. Sanur beach has calmer waters and is excellent for sunbathing and kitesurfing. Ten minutes from the Ngurah Rai International Airport lies the town of Kuta. In the Denpasar area, all kinds of Balinese handicrafts are represented in local shops. These include artwork, pottery, textiles, and silver. Batik cloth is sold all over Denpasar, and batik sarongs and men's shirts are widely available.

We want to organize ISH 2018 with a participatory approach, so please do not hesitate to contact us whenever needed. Please follow us in our website to find activities which could be appropriate with your interest or any additional information.

On behalf of ISH 2018, I welcome to the exotic country, Indonesia.

With warm regards,

Dr. Hardiyanto
Symposia President

SCIENTIFIC SYMPOSIA

There are five main topics to be discussed in these international symposia, which will be packed in a symposium. These five topics enable the involvement of participants with various disciplines to support development of horticultural subsectors that capture market opportunities, meet consumer preferences and improve the welfare of farmers and involved horticulture actors. The five topics are:

- Promote the Exotics of Tropical and Sub Tropical Fruits to Enhance Competitiveness and Penetration into Modern Markets
- Modern and Urban Farming System for Healthy and Safety Vegetable Products
- Colouring the World with Ornamental Plant Innovations for Prosperity
- Emerging Trends of Horticulture Impacting Global Markets: The Socio Economic Studies
- Implementation of Integrated Crop Managements to Support Food Sovereignty Based on Bio-industry

ACTIVITIES DESCRIPTION

The activities will be divided into four sessions as follow:

1 Plenary Seminar, ie panel discussions from three keynote speakers and six invited speakers. Speakers presented include educational sector (academics), and scientific (researchers) from Indonesia and International.

2 Oral presentation, ie presentations of the speakers within 15 minutes before the evaluators, panellists and audience. In this session, selected speakers will present orally. A total of 25 selected papers from each topic group will be presented and discussed within 20 minutes for each post. Questions can be asked if there is still time available.

3 Poster sessions and exhibitions, namely the delivery of research results in the form of posters. Papers that do not meet the oral presentation criteria will be given the opportunity to be exhibited in the form of posters. A poster of 70 x 100 cm (27.56 x 39.37 inches) should be prepared by participants, and must be submitted to the committee upon registration. All posters must be installed and organized according to the topic. There will also be an exhibition to accommodate the involvement of agricultural companies, lovers and observers of agriculture, and the government. The exhibition will be held around the poster installation area.

4 Agroedutourism, which is activity of visit to some locations in the form of agroedutourism activities.

The paper that has been improved according to the evaluator's suggestion will be published in the form of proceedings, while the selected papers will be published in International Proceedings with DOI number and indexed by Scopus.
